GARRISON

Garrison eliminates the threat they face by connecting our networks to the internet.

We use Hardsec alongside our patented Garrison SAVI technology, to deliver an ultra-secure cross-domain solution. The fundamental principle of Hardsec is that vulnerable and complex software-based security shouldn't be used to try and protect similarly complex, vulnerable software services (www.hardsec.org).

Organisations use Garrison for cross-domain working; web access to high-risk users such as investigators and system administrators; and enabling users to reach websites that for security reasons would otherwise be blocked. For general IT users, Garrison eliminates external phishing threats.
